HomeShield Homeowners Policy (Form HS-100)

HomeShield Insurance Company | Edition 03/2026

Please read this policy carefully. It describes what we insure, what we do not insure and what we need from you when you make a claim. Words in quotation marks have the meaning given in Section 1.

SECTION 1 DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL TERMS

1.1 About this policy

This policy is an agreement between you and HomeShield Insurance Company ("we", "us", "our"). It applies to the dwelling named in your Declarations. The policy consists of this form, your Declarations page and any endorsements that are listed there.

1.2 Definitions

"You" and "your" mean the person named in the Declarations and a spouse or partner who lives with that person. "Dwelling" means the house at the address shown in the Declarations, including attached garages and permanently attached fixtures.

"Sudden" means happening abruptly and without warning. "Accidental" means not expected or intended by you. "Occurrence" means one event, or a series of events that come from the same cause.

1.3 Policy period

This policy applies to loss that starts during the policy period shown in the Declarations. A loss that began before the policy period started is not insured under this policy.

SECTION 2 PROPERTY WE INSURE

2.1 Dwelling

We cover the dwelling, including walls, floors, ceilings, the roof structure and roof coverings, and fixtures that are permanently attached to the building.

2.2 Other structures

We cover other structures on the residence premises that are separated from the dwelling, such as detached garages, fences and garden sheds, up to 10% of the dwelling limit shown in the Declarations.

2.3 Personal property

We cover personal property that you own and keep in the dwelling, up to the contents limit shown in the Declarations. Jewelry, watches and furs are limited to $1,500 in total unless they are scheduled.

2.4 Additional living expenses

If a loss that we insure makes the dwelling unfit to live in, we cover the reasonable increase in your living costs while it is repaired, for up to 12 months.

SECTION 3 PERILS WE INSURE AGAINST

3.1 What this section covers

We cover sudden and accidental direct physical loss to the property described in Section 2 when it is caused by one of the perils named in clauses 3.2 to 3.6. Loss that is excluded in Section 4 is not insured, even if it is caused by one of these perils.

3.2 Fire and lightning
Direct physical loss to the property caused by fire or lightning is covered. This includes damage from smoke and heat, and the reasonable cost of putting out the fire.

3.3 Windstorm
Direct physical loss to the dwelling caused by windstorm is covered. This includes loss to roof coverings, gutters, fascia, siding and attached fences.
Rain, sleet or snow that enters the dwelling is covered only if a windstorm first damages the roof or a wall and the damage creates an opening through which the rain, sleet or snow enters.

3.4 Hail
Direct physical loss to the dwelling caused by hail is covered. This includes bruising, cracking or puncture of roof shingles and other roof coverings, and damage to gutters, siding, skylights and windows.

3.5 Sudden escape of water
Sudden and accidental discharge or overflow of water from a plumbing, heating or air-conditioning system, or from a household appliance, is covered. We also cover the reasonable cost of opening and repairing the part of the building that must be removed to reach the system.

3.6 Other named perils
We cover direct physical loss caused by explosion, riot, vandalism, theft, falling objects, and the weight of ice, snow or sleet on a building. Damage to the inside of a building caused by falling objects is covered only if an object first damages the roof or an outside wall.

SECTION 4 WHAT WE DO NOT COVER

4.1 Wear and tear
We do not cover loss caused by wear and tear, marring, gradual deterioration, rust, corrosion, rot, mold, or an inherent defect in the property. Deterioration of roof coverings that develops over time is not covered even if it is first noticed after a storm.

4.2 Flood and ground movement
We do not cover loss caused by flood, groundwater seepage, storm surge, backup of sewers or drains, landslide, earthquake or sinking of the ground.

4.3 Neglect
We do not cover loss that is made worse because you failed to take reasonable steps to protect the property from further damage after a loss.

4.4 Intentional loss
We do not cover loss that is caused by an act that you or a person living with you committed or arranged with the intent to cause a loss.

4.5 Vacancy
We do not cover vandalism or breakage of glass if the dwelling has been vacant for more than 60 consecutive days before the loss.

4.6 War and nuclear hazards
We do not cover loss caused by war, military action, or nuclear reaction or radiation.

SECTION 5 WHAT TO DO AFTER A LOSS

5.1 Your duties after a loss

If you have a loss, you must do the following:

(a) Give us prompt notice, and in any case within 60 days of discovering the loss.

(b) Protect the property from further damage and keep records of what you spend on repairs.

(c) Take clear photographs of the damage and keep damaged items until we have inspected them.

(d) Tell us the date, the place and the cause of the loss, as far as you know them.

(e) Give us the reasonable access, documents and information we ask for.

5.2 Evidence we may ask for

We may ask for photographs, an inspection report, repair estimates, receipts and weather records for the date of loss. Weather records support our assessment of a claim but do not by themselves prove that the damage was caused by a particular event.

5.3 How we settle a loss

We settle covered loss to the dwelling on a replacement cost basis if you insure it to at least 80% of its replacement cost. Otherwise we pay the actual cash value, which is the replacement cost less a deduction for age and condition.

5.4 Deductible

Your deductible applies to each occurrence and is subtracted from the amount we pay. The deductible amount is shown in the Declarations.

SECTION 6 GENERAL CONDITIONS

6.1 Fraud and misrepresentation

We provide no coverage for a person who has intentionally hidden or misrepresented a material fact or circumstance, or has engaged in fraudulent conduct, in connection with this insurance or a claim.

6.2 Cancellation

You may cancel this policy at any time by notifying us. We may cancel it for non-payment of premium with 10 days written notice, or for any other reason with 30 days written notice.

6.3 Complaints and disputes

If you disagree with a claim decision, you may ask us to review it. A claim decision made with the help of automated tools is always reviewed by a claims professional, and you may ask for the reasons in writing. You may also contact your state insurance regulator.
